PROGRAMLARI

The service range of Heli Service includes the use of a helicopter for ambulance flights. Helicopter ambulances are used for the transport of patients between hospitals or specialized hospitals. The major benefits are important time savings, flying from point to point without traffic jams – opposed to ambulances by road.

A medical helicopter can also be used for transporting organs. In order to save life's and achieve maximum medical efficiency, it is vital to bring organs fast and under optimal conditions to their destination for transplantation.

Heli Service also provides the medical helicopter, better known as '.....', for the "Institut"
